THE EMERGING NEW CONSCIOUSNESS. AWAKENING TO A NEW CONSCIOUSNESS

The emerging new ecological consciousness has been going on for over a hundred years, but the most recent expressions of this have been the appearance of things like Laudato Si (2015), The Earth Charter in (2000), the various United Nations statements, the publication of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring in 1952, the emergence of Deep Ecology, and the even earlier writings of people like Arne Naess, John Muir, Aldo Leopold, and a host of nature writers. Much of this has its roots in the spiritualities of indigenous peoples, the nature mystics and poets, and the ancient non-dual teachings of India and the Far East.

The weekend will be a reflective look at these underlying spiritualities, and an opportunity to look ahead to an Earthed spiritual consciousness, and a possible ethic for a mutually enhancing way of life on Earth.
