

Learning Something New - Chakra Experience

We tend to have similar goals in life that is to be happy, loving, compassionate and well. Having an intuitive sense of our emotions, mental, spiritual and bodily energies helps us to live a more satisfying, engaged and attentive life that is attuned to our inner wisdom. We need to align our deepest desires and dreams with our way of life and stated purpose. From our lived experience we know that we need to re-balance our lives regularly as we evolve into more creative, conscious and alive persons. This workshop will provide you with sights and tools to assist you in your life's journey to be become a more caring and aware member of the earth community.
